I want to thank you for the stimulating conversation we had in your office the other day. The value of dialogue can be hardly overestimated.

I will look into the issues of concern you raised with me and will get back to you in due course.

Beyond that, I believe it vital that senior NSA officers help other Intelligence Community officers understand the role of SIGINT--while properly protecting your sensitive sources and methods. I hope I can help you do exactly that.

Thanks again; we ought to get together later in the year for a follow-on chat.
